Committee reports were given. Treasurers Report by Ted Luke. reported a balance of $2550.73 and the donation jar was passed around. Membership report from Debbi Segall said we had around 250 members and introduced the newest members from the American Legion. Lois Hook reported on the November Pot Luck. Music will be provided by local musician in Cornville, the theme is Country so we'll have a BBQ with all the trimmings. Farmers Market went well and there are still a few vendors until the end of the month. Toys for Tots box will be at the next few meetings, so bring a $10 gift for donation to local kids. George Dana from Planning and Zoning gave an update on where the P&Z committee is membership wise. He will be resigning and Nikki Lewis will be taking over as chairman. There is a meeting on November 4 with a presentation on a project off s. Aspass Road for a new senior living center. All are invited to come here what they have to say. Paul Graham gave an update on where the trails are. The Forest Service is working on a new rep. to work with us on our Cohnville trail. The Forest service is hiring a new coordinator. Everyone is working on funding and plans. Some day we will have our trail.

Guest speakers were introduced. Judy Miller from the Cornville Historical Society gave a power point presentation on what the group has accomplished over the past five years and how they grown. She showed the projects they have worked on and the fund raisers they have held. They are very involved in gathering history of community. There is a pamphlet that details their activities. Join and support the group.

Robert Resendes, Director of Yavapai County Community Health Services was the second speaker. He gave us facts and slide show on the flu virus and how it can be spread and the effects the HINI virus can have on a community. He talked about who gets the shots, the time frame for getting them and just why it is important to stay home and not infect others. To get more information or if you have questions go to www.yavapaihealth.com or www.flu.gov You can also contact Robert at robert.resendes@co.yavapai.az.us

We have a new American Legion in Cornville and Jim reported on the projects they are involved in and invited new members to join their post.
